

YOUNG LINEMAN IS FATALY SHOCKED

Thomas Cary Struck by a Live Wire While Making Repairs on South Vine Street.

KNOCKED DOWN BY CURRENT

Children Used Wire as Plaything And Their Escape From Death Is Miraculous.

Thomas Cary, an electrician employed by the Seymour Public Service Company, was fatally shocked Wednesday afternoon while repairing a broken electric light wire on South Vine street. Quite a number of people witnessed the accident, and as soon as the young man was thrown to the ground everything possible was done to revive him but he died in about forty minutes. Even after he was taken to Vess' undertaking establishment a physician worked for half an hour with the body but his efforts were unsuccessful. The wire which caused Cary's death snapped in two sometime during the afternoon. It was strung through a shade tree and was broken by the continual rubbing on a limb on account of the heavy wind. The report of the wire came to the office of the electric light company about 4 o'clock and about the time the advice was received Cary came into the building and was immediately sent to make the repair. When he arrived at the place he found that the wire was lying on the ground and that there were a large number of children playing around it. He at once realized the danger and when Mr. Potter, manager of the Seymour Public Service Company, arrived on Vine street a few minutes later Cary told him that he thought it would be advisable to get the wire out of reach of the children and then switch off the current so that the permanent repairs could be made as in this manner the patrons could be supplied with current during the night. Mr. Potter agreed that this was the best thing to do and with insulated pliers and gloves Cary picked up the wire, dragged it a short distance and wrapped it around the tree. According to the eye witnesses, the electrician wrapped the wire around the tree twice and then fastened the end around the wire. He then took the pliers and raised the wire several inches higher in order that the loop might be over a knot on the tree. This is regarded as the most dangerous part of the work, and he apparently started to leave the tree. For some unknown reason, however, he returned to the wire and it is supposed that he attempted to give the end of the wire another twist. The end of the wire about a yard long was hanging down and it is supposed that when he returned the wind blew it against his body striking him on the right elbow. He was thrown across the sidewalk and fell against the fence, but arose immediately and started to walk away. Before he had gone very far he fell the second time and remained unconscious. He realized that the wire was heavily charged as he remarked to one lady, who was standing close by, that the wire was "hot."

As soon as Cary fell Mr. Potter rushed to his assistance and spoke to him but he did not answer. He then attempted to restore respiration. A physician was called at once. Stimulants were given the unfortunate man, but it is believed that his heart was not strong, as it was impossible to keep the heart in action although artificial respiration was restored to.

The young man is twenty-five years of age and has always lived in this city. He is survived by his mother and grandmother. He was regarded as a careful electrician and when employed with similar work before was always cautious. When the Seymour Public Service Company purchased the local plant Mr. Cary was employed with them for about a year in rebuilding the system and took employment with them again about a year ago.

The funeral services will likely be held sometime Sunday.

People who live on Vine street and who saw the wire while it was down declared that it was miraculous that a number of persons were not seriously hurt or killed, as quite a number of children were playing with the wire while it was down. When the wire first broke the end hung in a tree and one boy took the handle of his umbrella and pulled it to the ground. From that time until it was wrapped around the tree by Cary there were quite a number of children about the wire who were poking at it with steel rod umbrellas.

Men and women living in the neighborhood and who realized the danger the children were in cautioned them but many of them paid little heed to the advice. One boy who was bare foot stood upon the wire but happened to strike a place where the insulation was in good condition. Another boy tried to touch the wire and was knocked down but not hurt. He learned the lesson, however, and went home. Several of the children were burned about the hands but fortunately did not come in direct contact with the bare wire. A man who was passing picked the wire up with his bare hands and placed it upon a branch in the tree, and everyone was expecting him to be hurt.

LIGHTNING STRUCK BARN

Owned by John Dorsey, Who Resides Near Crothersville.

During an electrical storm which passed over Crothersville and the surrounding neighborhood Wednesday night between 7 and 9 o'clock, a barn on the farm of John Dorsey, one mile north of that place, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. Besides the loss on the barn, a large quantity of hay and feed was burned and a binder, buggy and other farm implements were destroyed before they could be removed.

Mr. Dorsey owns considerable stock, but all of this was in the pasture and was saved. During the storm there was a vivid display of lightning and a heavy rain fell.

TWO BURNED IN BAD AUTOMOBILE FIRE

Eli H. Abbott and His Mother, of Indianapolis, Injured by Flames in Sad Accident.

SMALL DAMAGE TO GARAGE

While Filling Tank Gasoline Ignited From Burning Side Lamp—Machine is Ruined.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Abbott and son, Eli H. Abbott, of Indianapolis, experienced a sad accident about six o'clock Wednesday evening when their automobile took fire and the mother and son were badly burned. Mr. Abbott was standing some distance from the machine at the time of the fire and was not hurt. After the accident Mrs. Abbott and her son, who is eighteen years of age, were taken to the office of a local physician where their injuries were dressed. The family returned home on a late train Wednesday night.

The fire occurred at the McCoy-Thompson garage while the son was filling the tank under the front seat with gasoline. The tank was overflowed and the gasoline was ignited from the lighted side lamp. The flames filled the front part of the garage and a partition between the office and the main room was burned. Mr. McCoy estimates his damage at about $100.

The Abbott family drove down from Indianapolis Wednesday morning to their farm near Tampico. After spending some time there they returned here during the afternoon and spent several hours here and were preparing to start on their return trip to Indianapolis when the accident happened. They drove into the garage and as they started to leave the building discovered that the gasoline was getting low. All the lights on the machine were burning and because of the carelessness on the part of somebody these were not extinguished. The gasoline tank holds sixteen gallons. Ten gallons were put into the tank, and the son estimated that it would hold about three gallons more. These were drawn by Clarence Spear, an employe of the garage, and Mrs. Abbott cautioned her son about trying to put the last three gallons into the tank. Eli H. Abbott was standing in front of the car directly over the tank and was pouring the gasoline when it took fire. Mrs. Abbott was seated in the rear and the husband was standing some distance from the car looking at another machine in the building. Mr. Spear was in the office making out a ticket for the sale of the gasoline when the fire took place. Virgil Morris, colored, chauffeur for Frank Griffith, of Columbus, was sitting in a settee close to the machine and as the Abbott boy was filling the tank he noticed that it was overflowing. Morris told him that his tank was full and that the gasoline was running on the floor. There was considerable gasoline in the funnel and in his effort to keep from wasting any more of it than possible he quickly lifted the funnel from the mouth of the tank and in so doing threw some gasoline upon the side lamp. BROWNSTOWN FIRM MADE ASSIGNMENT

Lumpkin & Son, Furniture Dealers, Formerly of This City, Ask That Receiver be Named.

APPRAISERS ARE APPOINTED

Liabilities Are Placed at $1,400 And Stock Is Estimated to be Worth About $700.

Lumpkin and Son, furniture dealers at Brownstown who were formerly engaged in business in this city, made an assignment Wednesday afternoon. The Jackson County Loan and Trust Company was named as the receiver. When the assignment was filed the papers contained a list of the property consisting mainly of furniture, stock of the store, but the value upon the stock was not given. It is said that the liabilities will amount to about $1,400 with $700 of assets.

J. H. Matlock, president of the Jackson County Loan and Trust Company, went to Brownstown this morning to take an inventory of the stock. J. Clemmens and Allen Lucas were appointed appraisers and were placing the value upon the various articles today. It is understood that there are quite a number of outstanding debts which have not been included in the assignment and when these are filed the liabilities will amount to a larger sum.

Lumpkin and Son were engaged in the furniture and undertaking business in this city for many years, but a few months ago moved to Brownstown and opened a furniture store there. Heavy expenses are said to have been the cause of the assignment.

PROGRESSIVE SPEAKING

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor To Make an Address Here.

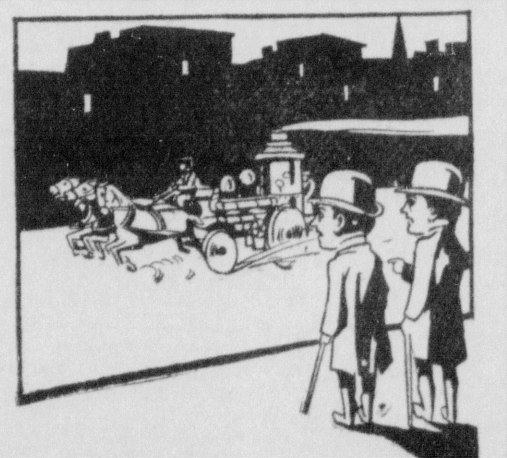

Noble Moore, chairman of the Jackson county progressive party, has received a communication from the speaking bureau that Fred Landis, candidate for lieutenant governor on the progressive ticket, will make an address in this city Wednesday night. It was stated sometime ago that the bull moose party would have several speakers in Jackson county during the campaign and that one of them would be Mr. Landis.

Mr. Moore has completed arrangements for the Majestic theatre upon that night, and is sending notices to all parts of the county announcing the speaking. Mr. Landis will probably make political addresses in several other cities in this vicinity while on his trip to Seymour.

Lafayette Pollock Dead.

The remains of Lafayette Pollock arrived here this morning from Churches, Ferry, N. Dak. and were taken to the former home in Sparksville for burial. He was born in Washington county and moved to Dakota several years ago.

Several months ago he suffered a severe attack of pneumonia from which he died Monday. The widow and two daughters accompanied the remains.

BENEDICT INITIATION

Members of Canton Planned "Nice Time" For James E. Hamer.

It is the custom of the Canton to give their newly married members a "reception" and last night was the turn of James E. Hamer. The members called at his home on West Fourth street and brought him up to the New Lynn Hotel where Mr. Hamer was placed on a box and made an address to the hotel guests. He told them all about married life and how happy he was that he was married. Mr. Hamer was then conducted to the lodge rooms where he was given the uniform of initiation and was again taken on the street. At the corner of Second street and Indianapolis avenue he was halted by the officers but finally "fixed" matters with them. He then invited the Canton to his home where refreshments were served. He was presented with a handsome cut glass vase.

DEMONSTRATION

Purdue Will Hold Meeting at The Jackson Orchard.

Orchardists in this county are much interested in the demonstration which will be held at the Jackson orchard south of the city on Saturday October 12 under the direction of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department. Similar demonstrations have been given at this place before and many valuable suggestions have been given by the instructors.

Special attention will be given to the growing and care of fruit trees. Every farmer in the county is given a cordial invitation to attend. The lecturers will give demonstrations in spraying, pruning, etc., and also talks on apple culture. The meeting will occupy the entire day and a number of the farmers will take their dinners with them. The Jackson orchard is known as a Purdue orchard, and is being cared for according to the methods used by the department of the University.

POLITICAL MEETING

Congressman Dockery Will Speak to Seymour Democrats.

Local democrats have received notice from the central committee that Congressman Dockery, a former governor of Missouri, will speak in Seymour next Tuesday evening. Arrangements have been made for an open air meeting at the corner of Second and Chestnut streets and a platform will be erected for the occasion.

The Military Band will give a concert on the streets from 7 until 8 o'clock. This will be the only speech Congressman Dockery will give in Indiana. He is said to be an excellent talker.

W. C. T. U. County Officers.

W. C. T. U. held an interesting session Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. C. R. Hoffmann on West Tipton street. The next meeting will be held Oct. 22 with Mrs. Berdon. At the county convention at Brownstown Tuesday, the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Mrs. R. R. Short, Seymour.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Ella Robertson, Ewing.
Rec. Sec.—Mrs. Julia Hiller, Valonia.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. Viola Robertson, Brownstown.
Treas.—Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger, Seymour.

SAID ACCOUNTING LAW IS A BENEFIT

W. A. Dehority Delivered Address at Meeting of County Commissioners at Richmond.

COST OF SYSTEM DECREASES

Declared That Installation Was Most Expensive, But Should Be Considered as Investment.

Richmond, Ind., September 26.—A feature of today's session of the State Association of County Commissioners was an address by W. A. Dehority, chief examiner of the state board of accounts. Mr. Dehority's subject was "Three Years of Experience With the Public Accounting Law."

"The cost of installing the systems in the different offices," he said, "probably will be more than the cost in any subsequent year, but they should be considered more in the nature of a permanent improvement or investment than any item of current expense, for many of the records will last for years and the cost of new records, when needed, will decrease by reason of the fact that all the counties use the same forms and the contractor furnishing the supplies can prepare greater quantities and thus produce them at a less cost. The records will, in time, become a standard commercial article and their production will have greater competition than has been in the past, where every municipality required a separate and distinct form made to order."

An interesting feature of the address was a recital of what the field examiners had gleaned in their investigations, how supply agents had mulcted township trustees and how dishonest men had tried to cover up graft and crookedness.

PROHIBITIONISTS

Had a Good Meeting at Christian Church Last Night.

Although the weather was unfavorable for a political meeting Wednesday night there was a fair sized crowd at the Christian church to hear the prohibition speeches. H. W. Hickman, candidate for governor was scheduled to appear, but was called to his home and was unable to fill his engagement.

The speech of the evening was delivered by A. W. Jackman, of Attica, candidate for lieutenant governor. He spoke upon the policies advocated by that party and paid special attention to the liquor question. The singing was very good. The local prohibitionists are very well pleased with the result of the first meeting.

THE COUNTRY'S BUSINESS AT FLOOD TIDE

From Every Section of the Nation Comes the Good News of a People's Prosperity.

BIG CROPS, PLENTY OF WORK, GOOD WAGES

That is the Chorus That Comes From Every State, and it is a Song That Must Gladden the Heart of Every American Who Loves His Fellow Men and Wishes Them to Prosper.

THE country is at the flood tide of prosperity. The last four years under Republican laws and Republican policies mark a triumphant climax in the nation's history. From the day that William McKinley, in the name of the Republican party, assumed control of the government, down to the present time, when William Howard Taft is proving the worthy and patriotic successor of the martyred president, there has been uninterrupted progress, unexampled prosperity, marvelous growth. Business everywhere is booming. Labor is in great demand and wages were never better. Banks' deposits are increasing. Railroads are carrying enormous quantities of freight. Shipbuilding has taken on a new lease of life. Farmers are making money and miners and all other classes of workers are busy. Never was such universal activity known before. The details presented in these columns tell their own convincing story. They are gathered from all sections of the country—a broadside of interesting, instructive facts that demonstrate the widespread blessing of prosperity all over the land.

BUSINESS IS BRISK

Local Merchants in the Towns Find Receipts Increasing Each Month.

Under the heading, "Business is Brisk this Fall," the Freeport, Ill., Journal says that local merchants are optimistic and that "autumn displays in local windows include great variety of high class goods that will sell well." The Journal then says: "Recent reports from shippers in almost every section of the country give one the idea that the only famine we will have is one of freight cars rather than of produce. The conditions in the harvest fields of our great grain sections this year have demanded more labor than they could get, and that condition has not existed for several seasons. Wages are at the top notch and there is plenty of work. Factories are working full force and many of them over-time. And the farmer still buys automobiles. "Among local merchants business has been good this summer and each month has shown an improvement over the corresponding month one year ago."

WILL DEPEND UPON ELECTION

Politics, Unfortunately, Will Have an Influence Upon Continued Prosperity.

In an interview published in New York, Mr. James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, said: "Merchants have been increasing their stocks. Labor is well employed. Tremendous crops are assured. The outlook is exceedingly good." But Mr. Alexander added that politics, unfortunately, were a factor in the situation and that if present conditions were changed by the election, the business world would naturally suffer.

Bright Business Signs.

From the Reading, Pa., Times.

It gratifies the Times to be able to bring to the attention of its readers the many evidences of business improvement appearing in all sections of the country. These come from the west as well as from the east, and affect the agriculturist as well as the industries and financial and commercial houses.

Let Well Enough Alone.

From the Quincy, Ill., Whig. It strikes us that we should be satisfied with our present prosperity under President Taft and not be misled by those who are trying to create a spirit of unrest throughout the country.

"EVERY PROSPECT PLEASES"

Bradstreet's Report Says That Trade Continues Its Onward March.

Bradstreet's Report, a recognized authority on business conditions, sums up the present prosperity in the following words: "Every prospect pleases and trade continues its onward march. Cumulative strength appears to be the order of the day. The quickening impulses of better things are extending to sections that heretofore have been relatively backward, and what is most significant, garnered crops contribute even higher yields than were anticipated a fortnight ago, with those yet to be gathered—corn and cotton—giving evidence of astonishingly good progress. The crop situation is such as to generate optimism, the influences of which on trade are clearly apparent all over the west. "Steel business was never better, specifications in August were of record proportions, pig iron is active at an unprecedented rate of production, and higher prices have been named on a number of finished lines. Jobbers of dry goods have enjoyed a good house trade despite the holidays, visiting buyers still being in evidence, and road sales are larger, while business for spring is opening in a good way with first hands."

PROSPERITY IN THE WEST

Chairman Lovett Reports Crop and Business Prospects Good.

From the New York Tribune. Ex-Judge R. S. Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the companies embraced in the Harriman system, who reached this city at the close of last week from a five weeks' trip in the west, said yesterday that the result of his observation that the crop and business outlook could not be more encouraging. As to the crops, he said he did not see how they could be better, and business was for that reason unusually good. Labor, however, was very scarce, and as a result a good deal of the construction work of the system's roads was being delayed.

Business Continues Good.

From the Jackson, Mich., Patriot, Sept. 11, 1912. As to the general business of the country, although within less than eight weeks of election, with conditions growing feverish among candidates, there can be no two opinions. It is large and tends to become larger, in some cases showing a volume never before recorded.

This is especially the case with those industries which imply a large volume of business in other lines and directions, such, for example, as the industrial demand for fuel and the biggest output ever known in manufactured steel. At no time in the history of this country has the production of steel been so great, and its relation to other industries is shown in the large orders received from the railway equipment companies.

A Great Business Revival.

From the Independence, Kan., Daily Reporter. Pronounced revival of business prosperity has set in, according to the growing belief of business and financial men from all over the country. A decided awakening from the period of excessive dullness and limited business operations that has continued in the country since 1907 is widely predicted by men in touch with business conditions.

TRAVELED ON A CABLEWAY

How Problem of Transporting Twenty-Ton Locomotive Across River Was Solved.

The giant hands that are refashioning the surface of the earth at man's bidding do something more than merely pile up heaps of rock in river courses that the streams may be diverted to fields where water is needed, or tunnel through mountains or level off hills. Recently it was necessary to carry a railway locomotive from one side of the Rio Grande river to the other in connection with the construction of the Elephant Butte dam. To run the engine on rails to the nearest switching point and thus get it to its destination would take too long. So the power that has been trained to exert itself at the twist of a switch or the turn of a throttle was called into play and it picked up the engine and carried it across the river. There was a cableway of steel ropes stretched from one side of the river to the other for the purpose of transporting material as needed. The cable swings 300 feet above the surface of the river. The locomotive, a twenty-ton affair, was equipped with slings which were in turn attached to the travelers on the cable and it was easily and quickly transported from one side to the other.—Popular Mechanic.

Got to Man Higher Up.

"Coming across Siberia on the railroad about the only diversion is playing cards," said a traveler. "Four of us were having a game of whist when we stopped at a station. A big bearded man in uniform entered and came up to us. He said there was a tax of 50 kopeks on playing cards in that town, and we would have to shell out. We did. At the next station the performance was repeated, and then at the next and so on, the tax varying according to the size of the place, from ten kopeks to two rubles. After two days it began to get tiresome. Finally one of the party said there ought to be some way to provide against this systematic holdup, and we approached the conductor of the train and presented him with three rubles and pointed at the cards. Thereafter at no matter what station we stopped we were never molested by one of the local officials looking for 'him.'"

Seeking Artificial Rubber.

The use of rubber in the useful arts in so many new ways has raised the demand far above the supply, so that the commodity is now extremely dear and likely to be more so. This has stimulated inventors to experiments, the purpose of which would be to find a substitute for the rubber. Foremost among those experimenting is Prof. William Henry Perkin, professor of organic chemistry in Owens college, Manchester, Eng., where he has held his seat for the last twenty years. His experiments have already cost $175,000, and he is under contract for nine years at an annual salary of $5,000. When he is not busy with his experiments or writing books carrying great authority on chemistry he seeks relaxation in music, cricket and gardening.

Traveled Faster Than Sound.

A railroad man was boasting about the speed of trains on his line. "We go so fast," he said, "that bells and whistles are no use—the train keeps ahead of the sound. "Once four miles away on a straight stretch an engineer of ours saw a yellow. He whistled and rang and yelled, but it was useless—the next instant we were on the wagon—crash, bang—a derailment and the engine overturned."—Boston Traveler

Shotts Monday afternoon. Burial was at Riverview. The Sunday School Convention will be held at Ackeret's Chapel Saturday and Sunday.

SURPRISED HIS LARGE AUDIENCE

Expert On Moral Hygiene Denounces Methods.

HE POINTS TO ANOTHER WAY

Declaring Vivid Object Lesson Exhibited at Congress of Demography "A Perfect Chamber of Horrors" and Advocating Its Destruction, Dr. Wile Says Youth Must Be Educated Rather Than Terrorized.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The characterization given the exhibition on sex hygiene in connection with the international congress of hygiene and demography, in an address delivered by Dr. Ira S. Wile of New York, of the executive committee of the Society for Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, was "a perfect chamber of horrors." Since Dr. Wile spoke at the special request of the sex hygiene federation itself, his announcement created a profound sensation in his large audience.

"Education, not fear, is the proper method to curb licentiousness," Dr. Wile declared. "These exhibits should be thrown out into the street," he said. "Why show them to terrorize our youth into doing right? We must take the child from its birth and teach it self-control. Education of girls is the crux of the problem. They themselves are the ones to train boys to self-control, for the male sex is the aggressor and the female does not fall except by lack of will power or self-control. Once all women make it plain that they will not marry a man who has not a certificate of health, once all womankind resolves she would rather be a healthy old maid than an infected wife, the problem of sex hygiene will be solved, and not until then."

Dr. Wile's talk aroused a wide discussion and general dissension of opinion, not only of the exhibit, but of the movement headed by Dr. Mary Folk Mar of the Washington clinic, and other philanthropic and public spirited social leaders of Washington and New York, to organize societies in the various cities for courses of lectures before children and young men and women on sex education.

Dr. Folk Mar followed Dr. Wile's address and declared that her conviction had not been changed and that she purposes to continue the work of sex education and will shortly visit New York and other cities for the purpose of organizing local societies like the one being organized in Washington.

A GOOD BIRD

The Bee Martin Not the Scamp He's Been Reputed to Be.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Uncle Sam has granted a certificate of good character to the king bird, sometimes known in the rural districts as the bee martin, a species of fly catcher which inhabits pretty nearly every part of the United States.

The king bird has been under indictment in many sections as a destroyer of bees and a foe of apiarists. Department of agriculture experts fully exonerate the bird of the charge of being a destroyer. They say that it kills only the drones and the useless bees and is therefore a boon to the bee raisers.

Besides that, it preys on many harmful insects and protects farmers' chicken yards from the depredations of crows and chicken hawks, which it savagely attacks and drives away.

A SECOND THOUGHT

Hilles Modifies Statement Regarding Harvester Trust.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—Chairman Charles D. Hilles of the Republican national committee has qualified his assertion about the use of harvester trust money in the Roosevelt campaign.

He carefully explained that he had no evidence and did not wish to state that the harvester trust as a corporation ever spent any money at all in Theodore Roosevelt's campaign. Mr. Hilles made this statement after he was told that George W. Perkins had called the statement untrue and that he had asked the senatorial commission headed by Senator Clapp to summon him (Hilles) and force him to prove his statement or else retract it.

Evidence For the Defense.

Amarillo, Tex., Sept. 26.—Letters written by Al Boyce to Mrs. Lena Sneed, pledging undying love, urging her to obtain a divorce quickly and threatening to kill John Beal Sneed on sight, were placed in evidence by the defense at the habeas corpus hearing of Sneed here. The letters were numerous and cover the period from the arrest of young Boyce and Mrs. Sneed in Winnipeg, nine months ago, until a few days before Boyce was killed here Sept. 14 by Sneed.

In Danger of Starvation.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Alarming reports concerning the situation at Nacozari and El Tigre, in northern Sonora, have reached the state department from Mexico. It is stated the inhabitants of the towns are in danger of running short of food supplies, owing to the interruption by the rebels of the railroad communications.

LATER DETAILS OF JERSEY'S PRIMARIES

Returns Add to Smith's Discomfiture.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 26.—Judge William Hughes defeated James Smith for United States senator by more than 20,000 plurality in the preferential vote, according to unofficial returns from Tuesday's primaries.

Approximately 70,000 Democratic votes were cast at the primaries, or less than 30 per cent of the vote which elected Governor Wilson two years ago. Judge Hughes received at least 45,000 of the preferential vote, and it is likely that the tabulation of returns from small communities will bring his plurality to the 25,000 mark. It will be several days at least before the returns are made to the secretary of state.

In the six counties from which senators are to be chosen three of the present members are Republicans and three Democrats. The senate is Republican by a majority of one. Should the Democrats therefore elect four of the six they will control the senate and elect the president of that body, who will, ex-officio, become acting governor in the event of Governor Wilson's election to the presidency.

The outcome of the direct primaries has made Republicans confident of retaining their present control of the senate, with a good prospect of gaining one member, except in the event of an overwhelming Democratic landslide.

German Women Utter Protest.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—Women Socialists held twenty-seven meetings yesterday to protest against the rise in the price of food. They adopted resolutions demanding that the government open the frontiers and abolish the duties on cattle, meat and cereals and to discontinue the system of import certificates. They also appealed to the local authorities to provide meat at cost price.

Connecticut Hears Wilson.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 26.—Governor Wilson opened his New England speaking trip in Hartford, where he was given a cordial reception. At Stamford he spoke to a good-sized crowd. He also spoke at Meriden and Berlin enroute here.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Wednesday, Oct. 9, has been named as fire prevention day in New York state.

Mount Wrangell, the most widely known of the smoking volcanoes of Alaska, again is in eruption.

The Bavarian railways have placed a ban on kissing on trains, platforms or the premises of the companies.

Fire losses and cost of fire prevention in the United States amount annually to $480,000,000. In one year 1,449 persons lost their lives and 5,654 were injured in fires.

The national board for the promotion of rifle practice is planning to offer a number of trophies to be competed for by students of high schools throughout the country.

At the meeting of the central New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal church it was declared that "today there are 3,900 Methodist preachers within the shadow of the poorhouse."

"Independent and non-partisan use of the ballot" to elect officials friendly to organized labor is the campaign policy of the American Federation of Labor for the year which ended June 30, 1912, earned $2,873,279.987, the biggest gross revenues in history, according to figures compiled by the bureau of railway news and statistics.

SENATE INQUIRY TO BE ENLARGED

Committee Extends Scope of Investigation.

A HUGE LIST OF WITNESSES

If Present Plans, Details of Which Will Be Completed Tomorrow, Are Carried Out, the Clapp Committee Will Call Every Prominent Politician and Corporation Man in the Country to Tell of Campaign Contributions.

Washington, Sept. 26.—As witnesses before the Clapp senate committee appointed to inquire into the source of campaign contributions and to ascertain the relations of senators and representatives in congress with corporations, J. Ogden Armour and other representatives of the big packing houses of the United States will be called. The list of witnesses to be called by Senator Clapp and his associates on the committee on inquiry is being enlarged from day to day, and present indications are that before the investigations are completed every prominent political leader and business man in the country will be asked to appear.

It may be stated upon authority that it is the purpose of the committee to ascertain the truth or falsity of reports that have been current in Washington that protected industries have made campaign contributions for years, in expectation of favors at the hands of congressional leaders. The charge has been made that these favors have been granted incident to revisions of the tariff.

The beef packers have been credited with taking a live interest in politics in the past. It is alleged they have contributed liberally to congressional campaigns. Mr. Armour and others supposed to have knowledge of the facts will be asked to tell them under oath.

The resolution of inquiry, if interpreted liberally, gives the committee broad powers in making its inquiry. Chairman Clapp is disposed to make the investigation sweeping in scope, and accordingly, if his suggestions are followed, all members of congress who are supposed to know of contributions by corporations, made with a view to obtaining favors or protection, will be given an opportunity to divulge any information along this line they may possess.

At the meeting of the full committee to be held tomorrow in accordance with a call issued by Chairman Clapp, plans will be completed for the conference. Mr. Clapp has been here for the past month attending to the preliminaries.

ENDS REVOLUTION

Nicaraguan Rebel Leader Taken at the Fall of Granada.

Colon, Sept. 26.—Advices from Nicaragua report the fall of Granada, the rebel stronghold, and the surrender of General Luis Mena. It is believed this will end the revolution, although guerrilla warfare will continue for several weeks. It is understood the defeated chieftain will receive the honors of war.

Nothing in the Rumors.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Rumors current here that a number of American marines had been killed by rebels in Nicaragua are absolutely without confirmation in the official dispatches to the state and navy departments. Dispatches received from Admiral Southey indicate that all is absolutely quiet at every point where the American forces are stationed.

FOLLOWED THE CLUE

How Englishman Found He Was the Owner of a Gainsborough.

London, Sept. 26.—A portrait which has hung for years in the back room of a house at Newport in Monmouthshire and whose value has never been guessed, turns out to be Gainsborough's picture of the Duke of York, which was painted for George III. In 1784. The owner of the painting on seeing Benjamin West's reproduction of the picture of the Duke of York, was struck by the resemblance of the two faces, and this led to the discovery that the portrait at Newport was the original. Gainsborough's signature is on the right hand corner at the bottom.

Taft Sat in Historic Room.

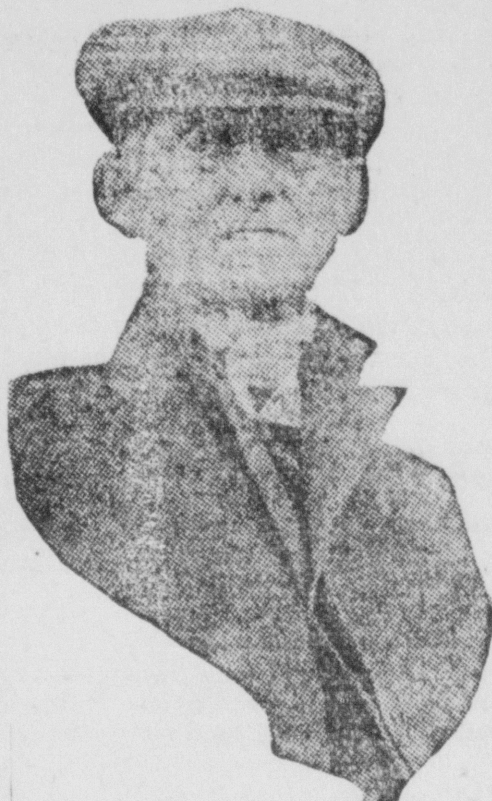

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 26.—President Taft declared that this country is entering upon the most prosperous period in its history. In a speech at the celebration of the semi-centennial of the conference of loyal war governors Mr. Taft had luncheon in the same room in the Logan hotel where the "war governors" met in 1862 at the request of Secretary of State Seward to make plans for enlarging the Union army.

Made a Two-Hours' Speech.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The only feature of interest in the first session of the Deuel bank convention was the speech of William D. Guthrie of New York as temporary chairman, who spoke nearly two hours. The various committees of the convention were then appointed.

New York Baseball Magnate Laid Up With a Broken Hip.

THE WORLD'S SERIES NOW ALL ARRANGED

Opening Game at New York On October 8.

New York, Sept. 26.—On Tuesday, October 8, the world series between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox will begin at the Polo grounds here and will close October 15 at Boston. The rival teams will play alternate games on their own grounds. This arrangement is made with the provision that the series will end when one of the teams has won four games. Each game will be numbered. If game number 1 scheduled for Oct. 8 at the Polo grounds is prevented by rain it must be played here on Oct. 9, or upon any succeeding date, before game number 2 can be played in Boston. In the case of a tie, the same rule will govern.

The umpires appointed are Silk O'Loughlin and William Evans of the American league, and William Klem and Rigler of the National league.

These important points were settled at a meeting of the National Baseball commission held at the residence of John Bush, president of the New York club at Pelham Manor. Mr. Bush is laid up with a broken hip sustained in a recent automobile accident.

Judging from the statements of the commissioners regarding the plans for selling tickets for the games at the Polo grounds, the spectators will be up against a hard game this season, consequently there cannot be a repetition of the scandal that involved the New York club last year. There will be no seats reserved at the Polo grounds except in the upper tier of the grand stand. In that division of the stadium there are 8,500 chairs, exclusive of the boxes. No applications for seats by mail will bear fruit. In short, persons desirous of purchasing reserved seats in the upper tier only must get in line on the day allotted for the sale. More than 17,000 seats in the lower grand stand and 13,000 seats in the open bleachers will be placed on sale at the Polo grounds and nowhere else.

Met by Shotgun Squad.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 26.—When a number of night riders arrived at the tobacco farm owned by J. Stokes Taylor, they were unexpectedly met by Taylor and a party of his friends, who were armed with shotguns. After a parley the visitors, supposed to be members of a tobacco pool which is against an organization headed by Taylor, were allowed to depart. Several of the night riders carried ropes at their saddles.

Mexican Peace Movement.

Mexico City, Sept. 26.—A new movement to obtain peace in northern Mexico was made when President Madero and his cabinet instructed the minister of war to offer amnesty to the followers of Pasqual Orozco, the rebel leader.

PRINTING OF THE STATE BALLOTS

Close Safeguards Hedging This Job About.

BIG FORCE TO BE EMPLOYED

Seventy-Five Clerks Will Assist the State Election Board in Counting and Sorting the Ballots and Every County Clerk in Indiana or a Representative Will Go to Indianapolis For His County's Quota.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Assistants of Thomas F. Colbert, custodian of the capitol, are at a loss to understand how to allow the employment bureau to remain open during the five-day period that the state board of election commissioners will be engaged in counting and supervising the shipment of more than a million ballots to all parts of the state.

The vault in the basement of the statehouse, where the work of counting the ballots is to be done, is directly across the hall from the employment bureau and because of stringent statutes with regard to the protection of the ballots the bureau either must be closed or a high fence built around the opening to the vault.

Approximately seventy-five clerks will assist the state board in counting and sorting the ballots, and every county clerk in Indiana or a representative will come to Indianapolis for his county's quota of ballots. None but these men and the express company employees who will handle the shipments of the ballots, will be allowed to approach the vault. No one who does not wear a special badge given him by the commissioners, will be allowed to enter the southern part of the statehouse basement while the ballots are being handled.

Heavy penalties attach to the losing of even a single ballot and the care with which the commissioners will guard the slips of paper this year will approach that accorded gold bullion in a bank.

The state printer will begin work on the ballots Oct. 21, and the force of men under Ed D. Donnell, clerk of the election board, will take up the work of counting and distributing them on the afternoon of the same day. It is believed that the work will be finished in five days.

HAD SUFFERED ENOUGH

Court's Ruling in Suspending Sentence of Returned Fugitive.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 26.—Four years ago Stephen Wolowski of South Bend was implicated in a series of railroad car robberies. Fearing arrest, he went to Canada. Homesick and weary of evading arrest further, he came back to his family, and twenty-four hours after his arrival he was arrested on the old charge. Wolowski pleaded guilty in the circuit court and on the strength of his story and the record he made while living in Canada, Judge W. A. Funk gave him a suspended sentence on a charge of burglary. The court ruled that the sufferings of the man in being away from his family was sufficient punishment for his crime. The Chicago, Indianapolis & Southern railroad filed the complaint against him.

Physicians Reject Antitoxin.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 26.—Fifteen cases of diphtheria developed here this week, resulting in the death of five children, and the health board appealed to parents throughout the city for their assistance in an effort to prevent a further spread of the disease. All of the stricken children have been pupils in the public schools. Five of the schools were fumigated. The health board stated that some physicians attending diphtheria cases had declined to use antitoxin.

State Geologist Worse.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Edward Barrett, state geologist, who has been confined to his home in Plainfield with injuries received in the collapse of the grandstand at the Marshall notification exercises, is reported worse, and fears are entertained for him by friends.

Caught on the Bridge.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Charles F. Porter, fifty years old, living near Bridgeport, was instantly killed when an outboard Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern traction car struck him as he was sitting on the tracks near the Eagle creek bridge.

STORAGE BATTERIES RUN RAILWAY TRAIN

Practical Demonstration On a 50-Mile Trip.

New York, Sept. 26.—From the Pennsylvania station to Long Beach and back, the first railroad train operated by storage batteries equipped with a multiple unit control has been successfully run. The train, which was designed by Ralph H. Beach, president of the Federal Storage Battery company of Silver Lake, N. J., consisted of three cars. It was equipped with Edison storage batteries and is owned by the United Railways company of Cuba.

The run of twenty-five miles was made in fifty-six minutes, and the return trip in the same time. One hundred and twenty railroad men, electrical engineers and business men made the trip.

TOOK HER MONEY

Charge Lafayette Bride Makes Against Her Bridegroom.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 26.—No word has come of William Richard Edward Freund of this city, who deserted his bride of a few days while they were on their honeymoon in New York. Mrs. Freund has returned to this city and the New York city detectives have been asked to seek Freund, who is accused of taking $600 from his bride.

Mrs. Freund was formerly Miss Ottilie Truman. Her first husband was William Schuler. He disappeared and she found him living in East St. Louis with another woman. Mrs. Schuler obtained a divorce. She met Freund through a matrimonial advertisement. He came to Lafayette and she and Freund were married.

Chased Moros Into Bush.

Manila, P. I., Sept. 26.—Fifteen Moros were killed and four members of the American constabulary were wounded in a fight in the interior. The Moros were pursued into the bush after killing a Filipino. Among the wounded was Lieutenant Preuss, who was in Persia with W. Morgan Shuster.

Will Escape Criminal Prosecution.

New York, Sept. 26.—Finery which Mrs. Ambrose C. Kingsland of this city brought into this country in twenty trunks from Europe has been confiscated by the customs house authorities. She can redeem the things by paying about $5,000 in duty and penalties. There will be no criminal prosecution of Mrs. Kingsland.

A TAIL OF A KITE.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)
Gov. Marshall evidently regards Indiana as a pivotal state in this campaign. He either is not disposed to undervalue himself as a necessary part of the national democratic ticket or he talks loosely and for the mere joy of sound. Speaking at the City Club Wednesday afternoon he implied, among other things more plainly spoken, that he is as necessary to the professor as the professor is to him, or if one is more necessary to success than the other, that he is the indispensable man. "I am only the tail of the democratic kite," he said. "If the kite can go up without the tail, and I can be left behind, I shall be satisfied."

Perhaps these words have a deeper meaning than appears on the surface, like those once spoken by a Mark Twain character in a Mississippi River town, of Missouri and which held such a depth of meaning that his hearers, unable to dive to the bottom, revenged themselves by dubbing him "Puddinhead Wilson." "It is a mere coincidence, of course, that his name was Wilson. What we want to impress is that wise men who see farther with one naked eye than the average man can see with a binocular, are not always understood when their audiences are without the necessary binocular equipment. It took Dawson's Landing twenty years to realize that Puddinhead Wilson was smart enough to be president. When Mr. Marshall discusses such an impossible thing as the flying of a kite without a tail, and alludes to himself as the tail of the Wilson kite, he almost persuades us to believe that he puts Woodrow Wilson in the class Dawson's Landing put Puddinhead Wilson a long time ago.

For the tail of a kite is that indispensable thing by which it rises and without which it may never hope to rise. When a candidate for vice president calls himself the tail of the kite he is saying that without him the kite is foredoomed to hit the ground. Such arrogance should be rebuked. However necessary the electoral vote of Indiana may be to the election of Wilson, and however necessary to getting that vote the governor of Indiana may now be, we must insist upon the amenities in politics. It is allowable to refer to the vice presidential candidate of the opposition as "the tail of a kite." Used as a term of disparagement by the unthinking it has had its uses in our politics. But when a vice presidential candidate applies it to himself we can but feel he means to imply that he is "the only hope of his party," or "the necessary man" or "the only man in sight," all of whom are getting their bumps this year. The Indiana governor's mock humility will deceive nobody. Behind the mask of the tail of the kite he vainly tries to conceal an arrogance equal to acclaiming himself as indispensable to his party's success. And he, more than any other of this year's self-proclaimed indispensables is telling the truth. No kite can fly without a tail, but tail and kite can often come down together. What need have we of kites or tails in our politics? The American eagle flies higher than kites and grows his own tail. A tail of a kite will bear watching. If the tail becomes the kite through stress of disaster it may insist on staying up all the time and be hard to pull down again.

SEE END OF BIG TERMINALS

New Arrangement Seems Likely to Do Away With Present Costly Buildings.

It has been predicted that the two great railway passenger terminals in New York city will be the last of their kind to be built in the United States and it is entirely possible that this is true.

The plan of gathering large numbers of people from many points and delivering them in a confused mass all together at a point varying from a quarter of a mile to five miles from places where they desire to be is a crude survival from the time when cities were smaller and travelers much fewer in number.

In the modern city the railways bringing passengers from all parts of the country will necessarily be operated as portions of the local transport systems, so that the entire city will form the terminal and the train, passing around the underground railway, will permit individuals to descend at stations reasonably near to their personal destinations.

Such a service will so far outweigh any idea of the desire for imposing architectural terminal structures that it is already evident that the railway first providing such distribution of its passengers will materially outdistance its rivals.

Already in New York the co-operation of the Hudson tunnel system with the railroad is making the new terminal station obsolete, and is showing the way to provide for the real convenience of the traveling public. What the result would be if the entire subway system of the city formed the true terminal of all railways permitted to enter may well be considered before any more great stations are built.—Cassier's Magazine.

New Block Signal Idea.

Many of the suburban railway companies are installing a system of block signaling which makes use of electric lights exclusively and dispenses entirely with the semaphore. The system is economical and very effective by day or night. Metallic filament lamps are used, placed behind large red and green lenses, and the entire outfit is mounted in a sunbonnet-shaped hood to enable the lights to be seen by day. With only the light indications, no motor-driven mechanism is required. Experiments on the arrestiveness of these signals show that they can be seen plainly 1,500 feet on a bright day from a car moving at about 40 miles per hour. It is necessary to guard against phatom signals given by reflection from the headlight of the approaching car.

Fly Caused Much Trouble on Line.

One fly delayed a Houston & Texas Central passenger train the other day, caused the arrest of a Pullman porter, and the avowed intention of at least six passengers to sue the railroad company for damages. A southbound train found the Pullman car which it rightly picks up at Waco, Tex., locked up, the porter missing, and angry passengers "cussing" the company and everything in general. Investigation showed that the porter an hour before asked for a cup of coffee at a nearby restaurant, found a fly in it, started a row with the proprietor, and was locked up for disturbing the peace, leaving his car neglected.

Railroad Man in Hard Luck.

Extraordinary scenes marked the wedding of a local railway man at Hull, England, recently. The ceremony took place at King's hall, and about 500 persons, friends of the bridegroom, gathered outside the building, carrying bags of peas, confetti and rice. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom became separated, and while the bride succeeded in reaching her home safely, the bridegroom was forced to retreat into the hall, getting considerably hustled on the way. When the couple became separated in the rush, the crowd thinking that the bridegroom was seeking to escape from the ceremony, mobbed him.

Mrs. George Schaefer of Cincinnati, who has been visiting here, went to Vincennes this afternoon to spend a few days before her return home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Harding and Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Lewis will leave next Tuesday for Redlands, Cal. for future residence.

stantly the flames burst out and the gasoline in the front of the car as well as that on the floor was ignited.

As soon as Mr. Spear heard Morris tell young Abbott that the tank was running over he rushed from the office and made a dash to put out the side lights, but just as he placed his hand upon the lamp the gasoline caught fire. The curtains on the machine were drawn on account of the rain and Mrs. Abbott in the excitement was unable to open the side door or get out of the machine. Morris hastened to her rescue, parted the side curtains and opened the door so that she could get out.

The son did not know that his mother was out and made an effort to assist her. He exhibited considerable gallantry and without a thought of personal safety stood in the flames and reached in the back of the machine for his mother. Before he found that she was out of the machine he was badly burned about the face and hands.

As soon as Spear saw the flames he showed much presence of mind and ran to the fire department and gave the alarm. He then hurried back and attempted to go through the flames into the office after a rope so that the burning machine could be pulled from the building, but he was unable to open the office door which was locked.

In a few seconds the fire department was at the building and with a large hook pulled the machine from the building. The chemical apparatus was used to extinguish the fire in the garage. Mrs. Abbott and her son were taken to the physician's office close by where it was found that the son was the more seriously burned. His face was burned and swollen and his hands were in a fearful condition. However, it is believed that he will experience no serious results from the accident unless he inhaled some of the gasoline flames which may affect his lungs. His mother was also burned about the face and hands. While Abbott was trying to get his mother from the machine his clothes caught fire and he ran into the street and rolled in a pool of water along the side of the curbing to extinguish the flames. His legs were burned but not seriously.

There were quite a number of other machines in the garage at the time, but none of these were damaged. There is a notice on the wall directly opposite from where the Abbott machine was standing which prohibits the filling of tanks while any of the lamps on the automobile are lighted. Mr. Spear put in the first ten gallons, but it was when young Abbott started to fill the tank that the accident occurred.

Lippincott's For October.

Lippincott's can always be relied on for good fiction—fiction which is not only clever in form, but which is a vastly more important item—touches a live sentiment. The October issue is noteworthy in several respects. For one, it contains a complete novelette of swift movement and compelling interest, by a famous British author, H. B. Marriott Watson, whose books, "Hurricane Island," "The Big Fish," and a dozen more, have won Countess as well as an extremely nice girl, and we don't in the least blame him deserved success on both sides of the Atlantic. His new story, "The Picaroon," describes the surprising things that happened to an audacious, resourceful young yachtsman who believed in taking "short cuts" when he wanted anything. In this instance, he gets what he desires, although he has to surmount many formidable obstacles first. The heroine is a

CHARGES "FRAME UP"

Jeffersonville Postmaster Says Nobody Will Lose.

Considerable interest is taken here at Albert L. Anderson, of Jeffersonville, in the charges made against Postmaster, who is known here.

A dispatch from that place regarding the charges is as follows:

Postmaster Albert L. Anderson, in whose accounts an alleged shortage of $1,700 has been uncovered, declared that charges against him had been "framed up" and that no shortage existed. He said:

"There will be no shortage. Neither the government nor the company on my bond will lose a penny. I do not care to make any other statement at this time."

He referred all questioners to his attorney, J. H. Weathers. The latter said he had nothing to give out.

The investigation into the accused man's accounts was conducted by Postoffice Inspector J. N. Hunter of South Bend, who furnished H. E. Beaton, resident agent of the Southern Surety Company, on Anderson's bond, with a statement of the alleged shortage. This was communicated by Beaton to the Indianapolis office.

Inspector Hunter stated tonight that he did not wish to discuss the case. "I have made the investigation," he said, "and the facts as I found them will be presented to the United States district attorney at Indianapolis and he in turn will make such disposition of them as he deems best."

It is expected that the charges will be brought before the Federal Grand Jury immediately. The general opinion seems to be that if, as Anderson says, the government and the postmaster's surety are protected against loss, criminal proceedings will be foregone.

Anderson has always borne an excellent reputation. He is 32 years old, married and has two children. He has been postmaster for two years. Prior to assuming the postmastership he was city clerk. Last year he received $2,600 salary, but this year's business declined and his income amounted to only $2,400.

A dispatch received from Washington tonight stated that the Postoffice Department had not ordered the investigation and if one was being made some inspector had taken the initiative.

SERIES "D"

Another Money Saving Opportunity Offered to the Citizens of Seymour And Jackson County.

If you believe in saving money regularly and placing these weekly savings where they will draw interest from the time they are laid away, it will pay you to take stock in the new Series "D" of the Co-Operative Building and Loan Association which will be opened Monday, October 7. This Association is one of the substantial business concerns of our county. It has enabled hundreds of our people to own their own homes by easy payment and it has helped hundreds to save and invest in business or other enterprises. In his recent examination, the building and loan examiner of the State of Indiana found the Co-Operative to be one of the best managed associations in the state.

To become a stockholder you subscribe for as many shares as you wish to carry, the membership fee being 25c per share which is paid only once. The dues are 25c per week per share, thus encouraging the habit of saving regularly and placing these savings where they will earn dividends until they amount to $100 per share. No premium is charged for loans and the money is loaned on first mortgage on real estate in Jackson county or on ninety per cent. of the value of the stockholder's pass book, so that there is the best security possible for the investments made by the stockholders.

Take some stock in the new series and begin the habit of regular saving. You will find your money accumulating faster than you think.

WHERE DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

Covington, Mo.—“Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women.”
—Mrs. JENNIE GREEN, Covington, Mo.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—“I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation.”
“I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon.”
“Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles.”

“I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it.”—Mrs. O. M. CLINE, Brownsville, Ind.

Practical Fashions

GIRL'S DRESS.

This charming frock is one of the very easiest to make, and this point will doubtless appeal to the busy mother. It closes at the left side of the front, and the pattern provides for a gimp which is separate. The square neck is outlined with a band of insertion, with which the short sleeves are also trimmed. Any wanted wash fabric may be used for development.

The pattern (5918) is cut in sizes 6 to 12 years. Medium size will require 2 1/2 yards of 26 inch material for dress and 1 1/2 yards of insertion, and 1 1/2 yards of 27 inch goods for gimp.

To procure this pattern, send 10 cents to “Pattern Department” of this paper. Write name and address plainly and be sure to give size, and number of pattern.

THE HAIR OF YOUR YOUTH

“Rich, glossy, luxuriant fascinating hair of youth.”
Why should you not keep it so—continue to have it—plenty of soft youthful-looking hair, to dress in the many styles most becoming to you—that keep you looking young, attractive—that please you and your admirers too.

Don't let the grey hairs in—they'll make you look old—lose your charm and freshness. Besides others notice them at once and comment on them too.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WE ARE BEING MADE.

In one of George MacDonald's books there is this fragment of conversation: “I wonder why God made me,” said Mrs. Fabur bitterly. “I'm sure I don't know where is the use of making me.” “Perhaps not much yet,” replied Dorothy, “but then he isn't done with you yet. He is making you now, and you don't like it.”

Dorothy's philosophy, could we get it deep into our hearts, would greatly help us.

We must learn the lesson that the problem of this life is not in escaping hard and painful things, but rather in getting out of such experiences a resignation which should make the heart gentle and the life sweet.

We must learn that we are not made but only in the process of making.

Therefore we ought not to complain at the strokes of the chisel that is fashioning us.

A recent writer tells the legend of “The Complaining Diamond.” The rough stone cries out under the blow of the lapidary: “I cannot understand why should I suffer in this way?” The lapidary replies, “Wait; what thou knowest not now thou shalt know hereafter.”

And out of all this came the famous Kohinoor to sparkle in the monarch's crown.

The Master of Life holds the mallet and he chips away what is necessary to grave his own features on the stubborn stone. We feel only the sharp edge of the chisel.

Even God let us say it reverently cannot make character in a day.

We complain of his slow making of us because we forget it takes time and much fashioning for the finished work.

The young man makes a failure. He cannot see that it may be the making of him. One may succeed too easily and quickly. One may fail to learn his limitations, or to know the world as it is, or his work.

All who have succeeded permanently have suffered the blows, the grindings the polishing which the Kohinoor had to undergo.

We are being made.

And to all of us there is the teaching of Dorothy's philosophy and the complimenting diamond. We who are older bear upon our cheeks and brows the marks of the chisel. Sometimes the strokes were delicate and sometimes sharp. They were needed to make us what we are.

It is God's slow process.

What we may be doth not yet appear, but we know that the hand of the Artist and the pattern are Divine.

If you knew of the real value of Chamberlain's Liniment for lame back, soreness of the muscles, sprains and rheumatic pains, you would never wish to be without it. For sale by all dealers.

BITS OF WORLDLY WISDOM

It's easier to catch a husband than to uncatch him.

Your discretion might look like cowardice in another.

A man knows more at 21 than he can unlearn between that and 60.

Some men are dumb because their wives never give them a chance to talk.

Even the man who is his own worst enemy is always ready to forgive himself.

A woman can't feed a man so much taffy that it will spoil his appetite for it.

If it were not for the trusts whom would a man who falls in business blame for it?

In a woman's eye, the most attractive thing about a man is her ability to attract him.

Money may not bring happiness, but every man on earth would like to try the experiment for himself.

There are lots of funny things to be seen in this world, and among them is a fat woman sitting on a little piano stool.

When a couple is engaged they look at each other's virtues with magnifying glasses, which are thrown aside on their wedding day.

MOONEY.
School opened last Monday with an enrollment of seventy-four, and five more high school students to come.

The Sunday School Convention was not very largely attended Sunday on account of the rain. The following officers were elected: T. J. Cummings, President; Wm. Hargitt, Vice President; Della Maples, Secretary and Treasurer; James Tatlock, President of Teachers' Training Work; Mrs. Irene Byrley, President of Home Department Work; L. W. Lockman, President of Primary Department; Mrs. Inez Cossy, Cradle Roll; W. D. Richards, L. W. Lockman, James Tatlock, Committee on Program. The next convention will be held at Kurtz, the third Sunday in October.

Mrs. Tanner Allen, south of town, who has been in very poor health for some time, is very ill at this writing.

Prof. Tatlock and family of Browns-town and Marshall Byrley and family of Pleasantville were welcomed to our corner the latter part of the week as residents.

Miss Josie Hovis, who is staying with Wm. Smith at this place, spent a few days in Mrs. Taylor's home.

Mrs. Anna Stewart was down from Seymour last Thursday and Friday gathering apples on her farm just south of town.

WAYMANVILLE.
Elmer Otte left for Danville Monday of last week, where he will attend school.

Mrs. Will Otte and son, Orville, visited relatives in Columbus the first part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vonstrohe returned from an extended trip in Kansas Thursday.

Will Popenhaus transacted business in Seymour Thursday.

H. F. Borgstede built a fine concrete walk around his home which adds greatly to its appearance.

Bert Ogilvie was a business visitor in Seymour Thursday.

William Clark and Charles Stockhaver were in Columbus Saturday.

Misses Bertha and Nellie Tobrocke who are attending high school in Seymour visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tobrocke, here Saturday and Sunday.

James Brishen and family visited relatives in Columbus Sunday.

Several people from here attended the funeral of the late William Schieusemer near Seymour Sunday. Mr. Schieusemer lived in this neighborhood for years, moving away about one year ago.

School commenced here Monday. Nat Anderson is the teacher.

HONEYTOWN.
Our school opened Monday with Asa Rose as teacher. Mr. Rose and family are living on the Wm. Isaacs property.

Jason Huddleson, of Millport, spent Sunday night with G. D. Bennett and family.

Miss Pearl Mitchell is staying at the home of Chas. Rust.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Altmeier and little son, Ray, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Waldkoetter at Sauers.

Misses Virgil and Mabel Brock called on Mrs. Everett Richards of Newkirk this week.

Our school director has been doing some much needed work on the school house.

Several of our people have been availing themselves of the opportunity of enjoying some of Brother Offutt's excellent sermons at Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. James Knost and little son, Robert, spent Sunday at Browns-town.

Miss Dora Stroud and sister of Cortland were the guests of their aunt, Mrs. Anna Hayes, a few days this week.

EAST GRASSY.
Will Johnson was the first to sow wheat in East Grassy.

Several of our farmers sowed timothy seed the past two weeks.

Will Johnson cut a lot of wood for L. M. Rucker last week.

Our schools began Monday with a fair attendance.

The tomato season will about be completed this week. The tomatoes are damaged by too much rain.

Isaac Collins sold a mule to James Nelson last week.

Albert Zieckler made a business trip to Brownstown Monday.

Guy Bard is carrying the mail for his brother, Charles, the past week. Charles is taking his vacation.

Mrs. John F. Johnson went to Sellersburg Monday.

A calf belonging to Wm. Booth, Sr., was kicked by a horse last week and killed.

Avis Hoadley of Seymour was hunting Wednesday with Walter Patrick.

Jess Stout bought a fine horse last week.

Ollie Noe of Newry visited Mrs. Susie McDonald Saturday.

Wm. Stout of Newry passed through this neighborhood last week on his way to Crothersville.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

CANA, OWEN TOWNSHIP.
There was no Sunday School here Sunday on account of the rain.

Frank Martin's sale was well attended Wednesday. He and his wife left Saturday for the northern part of the state, where they will make their home.

C. S. Clay of Lebanon spent the past week here at his farm.

Clyde Prow of French Lick and Pat Henderson of Bedford were here the fore part of the week on a hunting expedition.

Elmer Gallion and Ralph Loudon made a business trip to Mitchell Tuesday.

This community was greatly shocked when it received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Roy Lucas of Lebanon Sunday. Mrs. Lucas visited here last winter and made number of acquaintances while here. She leaves an infant ten days old.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

KURTZ.
Charley Freedman, Miss Inez Prather, H. L. Boyd, and Miss Flossie Smith were business callers in Bedford Saturday night.

Charles Parker and wife will live with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armbruster's Mrs. Parker's parents, at this place.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's tonic to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FRUIT BUTTERS.

Fruit Butters are nice for winter breakfasts. While a little more troublesome to make than some other fruit preparations, they are well worth the effort. Peach butter is especially nice.

Tomatoes With Apples.

Tomato Butter.—Take five pounds of ripe tomatoes, remove the skins and add two pounds of pared, cored and quartered apples. Let these boil in a preserving kettle for one hour over a moderate fire. Stir so they do not scorch. Then put in four pounds of sugar, the juice of two lemons and a half tablespoonful of powdered ginger. Let it cook slowly and stir until it is as thick as marmalade.

Plums and Muskmelon.

Plum Butter.—This plum butter is especially nice if the pulp of a medium sized muskmelon is used for every two quarts of plums. For every pound of fruit use a half pound of granulated sugar. Boil for about three hours or until thoroughly cooked and then pass through a colander. Skim the butter and stir often. Then put into glass jars and keep for use.

Favorite Butters.

Peach Butter.—Remove the skin and seeds from the peaches then run through a vegetable cutter. Take equal parts of sugar and peaches. Cook the sugar to a sirup, then put peaches in and cook until it is as thick as desired. This is much quicker than the old way. Pear butter can be made the same way.

Apple Butter.—Wash, pare, quarter and core the apples. Put into a boiler and to each quarter peck of apples add two cupfuls of cider and boil very slowly until the apples are reduced to sauce. To the above quantity add one half teaspoonful ground cinnamon one-fourth teaspoonful ground cloves one-fourth teaspoonful ground allspice one teaspoonful salt and one-half cupful brown sugar. Boil or simmer very slowly, stirring often until you have it the right thickness.

The Fruit of the Vine.

Grape Apple Butter.—For this use tart apples and Concord grapes that are not overripe. Pick the grapes from the stem, wash and boil in just enough water to cover, when sufficiently cooked, put through a sieve or fruit press to remove seeds or skin. Peel and core apples and cook until smooth. Stir while cooking. Put grapes and apples together and sweeten and spice to suit. The amount of sugar depends upon the sourness of the grapes and apples. Cook until the proper consistency.

Anna Thompson

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, “Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller.” For sale by all dealers.

LEESVILLE.

David Hughes and Orin Starr of Medora, Albert Leudtke and wife of Sparks-ville, Harold Dixon and family, Cob Wheeler and Mrs. Charles Henderson of Ft. Ritner attended the funeral of William Jackson here Monday morning.

Mrs. Bell Glover and Sons, Frank and Justice Glover and wife returned to their home in Indianapolis Tuesday.

Mrs. Alice Huff and two daughters of Indianapolis are visiting her two sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Hill and Mrs. Jane Goens, and friends here this week.

Bob Brewer is repairing John Jackson's automobile.

Bertie Douglass returned home from Bedford Thursday.

Several farmers sowed their wheat last week, while others will sow this week.

T. T. Wilson will soon become a resident of Leesville.

Mrs. Sarah E. Smith is contemplating a visit about the first of October to Shelbyville, Ky., with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Newland Smith, who will visit her old home.

Uncle Louis Smith of Salem visited his son, Spencer, here several days last week.

Mrs. William Pearcey and family of Weddellville, visited Saturday and Sunday at Anthony Wesner's.

Mrs. Sarah E. Smith spent Sunday afternoon south of town the guest of Mrs. T. Douglass. A very pleasant time was spent.

COUNTY LINE.

John Haag and family and Louis Kain and wife of near Four Corners visited Lydia Myers Monday.

Mrs. Maggie Rich went to Cincinnati Friday to visit friends for a few days.

Howard Robins assisted Tuck Edwards cut sticks Tuesday.

Owing to the rain Saturday night the supper was not well attended, so the committee decided to have a pie supper and fishing party Wednesday night, October 2 at the Myers school house. A prize will be given the most popular young lady and a prize for the handsomest young man. It is given for the benefit of the church.

Is the Immigrant a Peril?

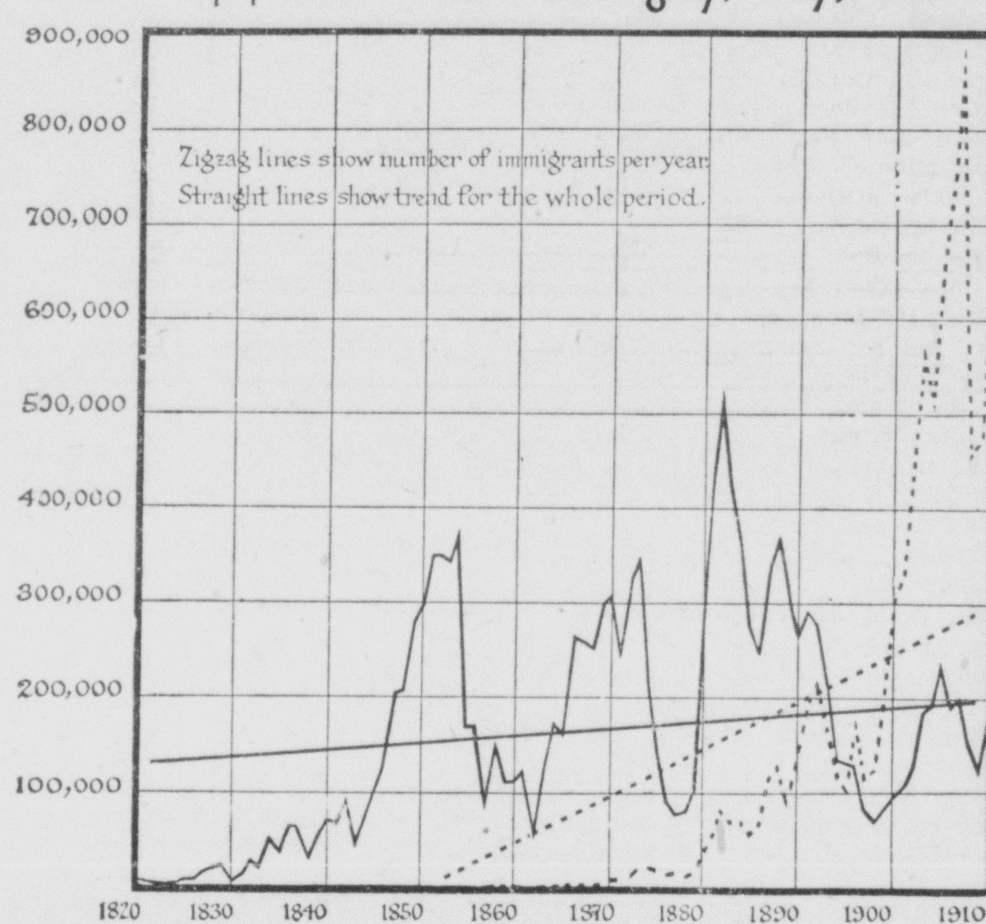

By CHARLES STELZLE

THE “peril of the immigrant” is a fantasy of the imagination. We are sometimes overawed by the fact that the natives of other lands are coming to us in such large numbers, but it is interesting to note that the percentage of foreign born living in the United States at any one time has not materially changed since 1860. Following are some figures: In 1860 the percentage of foreigners in the United States was 13.2 per cent; in 1870, 14.4 per cent; in 1880, 13.3 per cent; in 1890, 14.8 per cent; in 1900, 13.7 per cent; in 1910, 14.7 per cent. The constant percentage, therefore, is about 14. It is significant that during some years more than half as many immigrants returned to the fatherland as came to America. The labor market in America determines the number of foreigners that come and go, so that immigration is in a constant state of flux. The foreigner, therefore, not only takes care of himself by returning to his native land, where he can live more cheaply during a period of business depression, but he relieves the labor market of a congestion which might result in great harm to the American worker. It has sometimes been declared with considerable feeling that the immigrant comes here merely for the purpose of making what is to him a small fortune and then

SOURCES OF IMMIGRATION.

—shows proportion from Germany, Great Britain, Ireland, Scandinavia

..... shows proportion from Austria-Hungary, Italy, Russia

returning to his own country, remaining there to spend this money. But in the first place he has honestly earned whatever he takes with him and has left more than its equivalent, and he has a right to do with it as he pleases.

But what about the peril of the immigrant? Is there none? Yes, but usually the American is responsible for it. The average foreigner will make a good citizen if the American will show him how. The “peril” is in the American. A foreigner not yet naturalized wrote to friends in the fatherland: “America is a great country. They not only allow you to vote, but they pay you for voting.” Who was responsible for this situation? It is the children of the foreigner who are our greatest peril, and they have received their training in this country. The criminal classes are largely augmented from among these children of respectable, hardworking foreigners. Any movement which seeks to help these children should be heartily supported. After all, it resolves itself into a question of neighborliness. How would you like to be a “problem?”

Are You Nervous?

What makes you nervous? It is the weakness of your womanly constitution, which cannot stand the strain of the hard work you do. As a result, you break down, and ruin your entire nervous system. Don't keep this up! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from purely vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and helps them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and restores health, in a natural manner, by going to the source of the trouble and building up the bodily strength.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Wherein Philip Finds Elnora.

"O H. I need my own violin," cried Elnora. "This one may be a thousand times more expensive and much older than mine, but it wasn't inspired and taught to sing by a man who knew how."

The guests in the O'More music room laughed appreciatively.

"Why don't you write your mother to come for a visit and bring yours?" suggested O'More.

"I did that three days ago," acknowledged Elnora. "I am half expecting her on the noon boat. That is one reason why this violin gets worse every minute. There is nothing at all the matter with me."

Elnora laid away the violin. "Come along, children," she said. "Let's race to the playhouse."

With the brood at her heels Elnora ran, and for an hour lively sounds stole from the remaining spot of forest on the island, which lay beside the O'More cottage. Then young Terry went to the playroom to bring Alice her doll. He came racing back, dragging it by one leg and crying. "There's company! Some one has come that mamma and papa are just tearing down the house over. He's sick. I saw through the window."

Before Elnora missed her, Alice, who had gone to investigate, came flying across the shadows and through the sunshine waving a paper. She thrust it into Elnora's hand.

"There is a man person—a stranger person!" she shouted. "But he knows you! He sent you that! You are to be the doctor! He said so! Oh, do hurry! I like him heaps!"

Elnora read Edith Carr's telegram to Philip Ammon and understood that he had been ill; that she had been located by Edith, who had notified him. In so doing she had acknowledged defeat. At last Philip was free. Elnora went to him with a radiant face.

"Are you sure, at last, runaway?" asked Philip Ammon.

"Perfectly sure!" cried Elnora.

"Will you marry me now?"

"This instant! That is, any time after the noon boat comes in."

"Why such unnecessary delay?" demanded Ammon.

"It is almost September," explained Elnora. "I sent for mother three days ago. We must wait until she comes, and we either have to send for Uncle Wesley and Aunt Margaret or go to them. I couldn't possibly be married properly without those dear people."

"We will send," decided Ammon. "The trip will be a treat for them. O'More, would you get off a message at once?"

Every one met the noon boat. They went in the motor because Ammon was too weak to walk so far. As soon as people could be distinguished at all Elnora and Philip sighted an erect figure, with a head like a snowdrift. When the gangplank felt the first person across it was a lean, red haired boy of eleven, carrying a violin in one hand and an enormous bouquet of yellow marigolds and purple asters in the other. He was beaming with broad smiles until he saw Ammon. Then his expression changed.

"Aw, say!" he exclaimed reproachfully. "I bet you Aunt Margaret is right. He is going to be your beau!"

Elnora stooped to kiss Billy as she caught her mother.

Mrs. Comstock shook out her skirts, straightened her hat and came forward to meet Philip, who took her into his arms and kissed her repeatedly. He passed her along to Freckles and the Angel, to whom her greetings were mingled with scolding and laughter over her wind blown hair. Then the O'More children came crowding to meet Elnora's mother.

"Before you think of something more give me your left hand, please," said Philip to Elnora.

Elnora gave it gaily and the ring slipped on her finger. Then they went together into the forest to tell each other all about it and talk it over.

"Have you seen Edith?" asked Ammon.

"No," answered Elnora, "but she must be here, or she may have seen me when we went to Petoskey a few days ago. Her people have a cottage over on the bluff, but the Angel never told me until today. I didn't want to make that trip, but the folks were so anxious to entertain me and it was only a few days until I intended to let you know myself where I was."

"And I was going to wait just that long, and if I didn't hear then I was getting ready to turn over the country. I can scarcely realize yet that Edith sent me that telegram."

"No wonder! It's a difficult thing to believe. I can't express how I feel for her."

"Let us never again speak of it," said Ammon. "It is done. We will forget it."

"I scarcely think I shall," said Elnora. "It is the sort of thing I like to remember. How suffering must have changed her! I would give a great deal to bring her peace."

"Henderson came to see me at the hospital a few days ago. He's gone a pretty wild pace, but if he had been held from youth by the love of a good woman he might have lived differently. There are things about him one cannot help admiring."

"I think he loves her," said Elnora softly.

Edith Carr went to her room after her goodbye to Henderson, lay on her bed and tried to think why she was suffering as she was.

"It is all my selfishness, my unrestrained temper, my pride in my looks, my ambition to be first," she said. "That is what has caused this trouble. No one really cares for me but Hart. I've sent him away, so there is no one—no one."

Edith pressed her fingers across her burning eyes and lay still.

"He is gone," she whispered at last.

"He would go at once. He would not see me again. Oh, these dreadful days to come, alone! I can't bear it. Hart, Hart!" she cried aloud. "I want you! No one cares but you. No one understands but you. Oh, I want you!"

She sprang from her bed and felt her way to her desk.

"Get me some one at the Henderson cottage," she said to central and waited shivering.

After a time the sleepy voice of Mrs. Henderson answered.

"Has Hart gone?" panted Edith Carr.

"No! He came in late and began to talk about starting to California. He hasn't slept in weeks to amount to anything. I put him to bed. There is time enough to start to California when he awakens. Edith, what are you planning to do next with that boy of mine?"

"Will you tell him I want to see him before he goes?"

"Yes, but I won't wake him."

"I don't want you to. Just tell him in the morning."

"Very well."

Hart was not gone. Edith fell asleep. She arose at noon the next day, took a cold bath, ate her breakfast, dressed carefully, and leaving word that she had gone to the forest she walked slowly across the leaves. She was thinking hard and fast.

Henderson came swiftly down the path. A long sleep, food and Edith's message had done him good. He had dressed in new light flannels that were becoming. Edith met him.

"Let us walk in the forest," she said.

They passed the old Catholic graveyard and went back into the deepest wood of the island. There Edith seated herself on a mossy old log and Henderson studied her. He could detect a change. She was still pale and her eyes tired, but the dull, strained look was gone. He wanted to hope, but he did not dare.

"What have you thought of that you wanted yet, Edith?" he asked lightly as he stretched himself at her feet.

"You!"

Henderson lay tense and very still. "Well, I am here."

"Thank heaven for that! I didn't want you to go away."

"Not at all?"

"Not at all; not ever; not unless you take me with you, Hart. I can't honestly say that I love you with the love you deserve. My heart is too sore. It's too soon to know. But I love you some way. You are necessary to me. You are my comfort, my shield. If you want me, as you know me to be Hart, you can consider me yours."

Henderson kissed her hand passionately. "Don't, Edith," he begged. "Don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live life with Phil or would you rather have her as Elnora Comstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith!"

"Of course, you can't say it in plain English," said the girl. "You are far too chivalrous for that. You needn't say anything. I am answered. If you could have your choice you wouldn't have a society wife, either. In your heart you'd like the smaller home of comfort, the furtherance of your ambitions, the palatable meals regularly served and little children around you. I am sick of all we have grown up to. Hart, when your hour of trouble comes there is no comfort for you. I am tired to death. You find out what you want to do and be, that is a man's work in the world, and I will plan our home with no thought save your comfort. I'll be the other kind of a girl as fast as I can learn. I can't correct all my faults in one day, but I'll change as rapidly as I can."

Henderson was not talking then, so they sat through a long silence. At last Henderson heard Edith draw a quick breath, and lifting his head he looked where she pointed. Up a fern stalk climbed a curious looking object. They watched breathlessly. By lavender feet hung a big, puffy, lavender spotted, yellow body. Yellow and lavender wings began to expand and take on color. Every instant great beauty became more apparent. It was one of those double brooded freaks, which do occur on rare occasions, or merely an Eagles Imperial moth that in the cool damp northern forest had failed to emerge in June. Edith Carr drew back with a long, shivering breath. Henderson caught her hands and gripped them firmly. Steadily she looked the thought of her heart into his eyes.

"By all the powers, you shall not!" swore the man. "You have done enough. I will smash that thing!"

"Oh, no, you won't!" cried the girl, clinging to his hands. "I am not big enough yet, Hart, but before I leave this forest I shall have grown to breadth and strength to carry that to her. She needs two of each kind. Phil only got her one. You may watch me deliver it!"

"Phil may be there by now."

"I hope he is. I should like him to see me do one decent thing by which to remember me."

"I tell you that is not necessary!"

"Not necessary?" cried the girl, her great eyes shining. "Not necessary? Then what on earth is the thing doing here? I just have boasted that I would change; that I would be like her; that I would grow bigger and broader. As the words are spoken, God gives me the opportunity to prove whether I am sincere. Help me, as you always have done!"

Henderson clinched his teeth and held her hand. The moth had emerged too recently to be troublesome. It climbed on her fingers quietly and obligingly clung there without moving. So hand in hand they went down the dark forest path. A strange excitement took possession of Edith. She began to feel proud of the creature.

"Do you know," she said to Henderson, "this is growing easier every step. Its clinging is not disagreeable, as I thought it would be. I feel as if I were saving it, protecting it. I am proud that we are taking it to be put into a collection or a book. It seems like doing a thing worth while."

"Edith, if you don't stop," said Henderson. "I will take you in my arms and kiss the face half off you, here on the avenue. You are adorable!"

"There's the place, and, thank goodness, there is a crowd," she said.

"Hello, every one!" she cried as she came on the wide veranda. "Only see what we found up in the forest. We thought you might like to have it for some of your collections."

She held out the moth as she walked straight to Elnora, who arose to meet her, crying. "How perfectly splendid! I don't even know how to begin to thank you."

Elnora took the moth. Edith shook hands with all of them and asked Philip if he were improving. She said a few polite words to the O'Mores, declined to remain on account of an engagement and went away gracefully.

"Well, bully for her!" said Mrs. Comstock. "She's a little thoroughbred after all!"

"That was a mighty big thing for her to be doing," said Freckles in a hushed voice.

"If you knew her as well as I do," said Philip Ammon, "you would have a better conception of what that cost."

"I have to take care of this," faltered Elnora, hurrying for the door to hide the tears which were rolling down her cheeks.

"I must help," said Ammon, disappearing also. "Elnora," he called, catching up with her, "take me where I can cry too. Wasn't she great?"

"Superb!" exclaimed Elnora. "I have no words. I feel so humbled!"

"So do I," said Ammon. "I think a great deed like that always makes one feel so. Now are you happy?"

"Unspeakingly happy!" answered Elnora.

THE END.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED.

A Harmless Remedy Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

Ten thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take.

Advertising Talks

STORE NEWS WORTH READING

People Who Watch Advertisements Profit Accordingly—Patronize Home Merchants.

The merchant who buys space in a newspaper to tell the news of his store knows that the news is worth telling and is of vital interest to you or he wouldn't spend that money advertising. He's trying to tell you what he has that you should have and he's just as anxious that you read and profit by what he tells you as is the editor of the newspaper that you read the town news.

You've missed a chance to save some money if you've missed reading the ads. You've overlooked one of those opportunities for economy that come along each week to the readers of the advertisements. You've let a good chance slip, but there are several more equally good chances coming.

Now read the ads. You'll be surprised—but happily so, by what you read. You'll find these merchants using type to distribute really vital information concerning your needs and their merchandise.

Mrs. R— went to C— the other day. She purchased a suit and some dresses in one of the big stores there. She paid $35 for the suit and the cheapest dress she bought cost her $18. The suit didn't fit very well so she had to leave it to be altered. They charged her $2.50 for the alterations. The dresses didn't fit, either, but she didn't have time to wait so she brought them home. She just had three of them. The suit came and it doesn't fit very well.

One of the home town merchants had the same identical suit advertised for $30—he can afford to sell them for less than the city merchant can because his expenses of doing business are much less. He has some dresses that Mrs. R— admits are better than the ones she got in the city and he is selling them for $15—no charge for alterations.

Mrs. R— learned her lesson and she paid a fairly good price for the knowledge. It costs nothing to read the ads—and the returns are always big.

ADVERTISE ALL THE TIME

Spasmodic Newspaper Publicity Poor Policy—Size of Space Used Should Also Be Regular.

Would you consider that this newspaper was well managed if it issued according to the mood of its publishers—instead of at regular, stated and invariable intervals? asks the Canon City (Colo.) Recordette. Would you think it a good newspaper if it printed a twelve-page issue at one time—and a one-page, handbill-size issue at another time? Would you feel that it was serving its constituency effectually if, now and then, it suspended issue entirely—to be resumed at some time when the publishers felt inclined?

Your store serves your patrons with store news through its advertising. They assume that there is always store news worth telling—store news that is important to them.

Is it not a poor policy for a store, as it would be for a newspaper, to serve its patrons in a spasmodic, dependable way? If your store is important to the people of the city, your advertising is important to them all of the time—not merely now and then.

The size of your advertising space should not vary any more than the size of a newspaper varies, and the appearance of your advertising should be as frequent and as regular as the appearance of this newspaper.

Good for Any Business.

The value of advertising to manufacturers as well as to merchants and retail dealers is well shown by results which the International Harvester company has had from a recent short advertising campaign in a number of newspapers, the smaller dailies and weeklies having only a local circulation, not the metropolitan papers. So successful have been the results in building up the sales of the International Harvester company's machinery that the company has undertaken a second advertising campaign in which more than twice as many papers are to be used and double the amount of space. The day has passed when publicity is not an aid to building up business of all sorts and a very important aid because always profitable to the business when rightly applied. Even the churches are finding that display advertising in the newspapers brings them larger congregations.

Hoping.

"Have you ever had an operation for anything?"

"Not yet; but if a certain investment of my husband's turns out right I expect to undergo one in the fall."

The Proper Way.

"Hello, old man; how do you find business?"

"How? By judicious advertising course."

SOCIAL EVENTS.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.

The Young Ladies' Society of the German Lutheran church gave a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of Miss Emma Vonfange who is soon to be married to Virgil Ellerman. The affair was a surprise and was given at the home of Miss Vonfange. A number of beautiful and useful gifts were presented to the bride-to-be and during the evening refreshments of cream and cake were served.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Bert Edmondson, of St. Louis, is here to attend the funeral of the late Isaac Apgar.

The republican county committee will meet tomorrow at Brownstown for the purpose of discussing arrangements for the campaign.

The city engineer and the members of the council inspected the Ewing street improvement this afternoon so final action could be taken at the council meeting tonight.

The funeral of the late Isaac Apgar was held this afternoon from the residence conducted by the Rev. D. L. Thomas. The services were in charge of the Masonic order of which the deceased was a member for many years.

The farmers are more than pleased with the good rain Wednesday and declare that it means a good corn crop. R. R. Short said that this was the first year for a number of years that there has been plenty of rainfall during the corn season. Frequently the corn is injured by the dry weather during the hot months.

The excursion to Louisville conducted by the Louisville Herald left here this morning about 7 o'clock. A big crowd of local people took advantage of the offer. There were six interurban cars in two sections. Several cars from the Louisville street car line were sent here for the trip. About ninety people from Crothersville joined the excursion at that place.

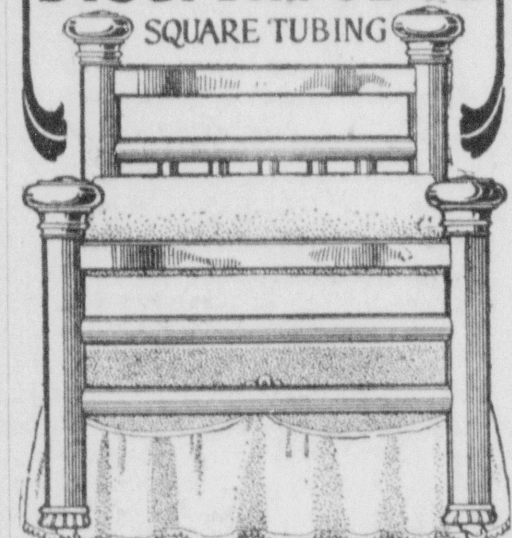

Mrs. Mary C. Miller spent today in Mitchell.

Art Steel Tube Bed

Do you see how the square cross-roads at top of head and foot beautify this bed? Imagine this design with round tubing in those positions. Would not the result be "ordinary" and monotonous?

It is just such details of clever and artistic designing that have made our steel beds so popular. And the very large corner posts with brass caps all combine to make this an unusually artistic bed.

Moreover this bed is as good as it looks. Because it is made of drawn steel tubing, very light in weight—extremely strong.

A child can move this bed with the greatest ease. Come in and see this bed. Then you will realize how good it is.

HOW THREE WOMEN ENJOYED THE MUSIC

Three plump women, ranging in weight from 160 to 200 pounds, file in and, after much creaking of silk gowns and groaning of chairs, are seated as the concert is about to begin.

First Plump Woman (breathlessly)—"This is going to be a perfectly grand concert. I'm so glad we decided to come this afternoon, though I was awfully afraid Mrs. Dening wouldn't send my gown home. It did come, though, just in time for me to dress. How do you like it?"

Second Plump Woman—"It's perfectly lovely. But then you always look exactly right. So well groomed, don't you know, and all that. Doesn't she, Mrs. Tilden?"

Mrs. Tilden—"It's the dearest thing I ever saw. You certainly have the best taste in dress, Mrs. Snowdon. Every time I see Mrs. Snowdon, Mrs. Thompson, I say to myself: 'If I only had such taste as she has!'"

Mrs. Snowdon—"How nice you two are! Of course, I know you're just saying it to make me happy, but then it's just as dear of you as if you meant it. Now, I think you two are the trimmest two women I know."

(Orchestra plays first number. At its close the three women give three sighs of appreciation or relief.)

Mrs. Snowdon—"Pretty, wasn't it? I do just love Wagner. And while I think of it, Mrs. Tilden, I want to ask you where you got that perfect dream of a fichu you had on yesterday at the tea. I'm crazy about it!"

Mrs. Tilden—"Oh, do you really like it? How sweet of you to say so! I got the lace in Paris and I had my little seamstress make it when I got home. I think it's rather fetching."

Mrs. Thompson—"It's the dearest thing! Oh, they're going to play again. I wish they'd wait a little longer between the numbers."

(The first violinist plays a solo.) Mrs. Thompson—"Isn't that violinist the dearest thing you ever saw? I simply adore him."

Mrs. Snowdon—"Yes, he's perfectly sweet, but he has the funniest looking wife. Did you ever see her?"

Mrs. Tilden—"I should think I did. I have very good reasons to remember her. I saw her at the tea Mrs. Dupont gave for her, and one of the maids spilled punch all over my best gown. It was never fit to wear afterward."

(Chorus of lamentations from the other two.)

Mrs. Tilden—"And such a dowdy thing as she is, too. Really, her gown was nothing but the plainest kind of silk. It looked as if she had bought it ready made. Really, the most ordinary looking thing."

Mrs. Snowdon—"Funny, isn't it, how queer these artistic people are about their clothes? The only one I ever knew who wasn't was the wife of that artist who visited Mrs. Tolman last winter. Do you remember what perfect dreams her gowns were?"

Mrs. Thompson (with intense interest)—"Weren't they! I never saw anything more beautiful than the one she had at the reception Mrs. Tolman gave for her."

(The orchestra rudely interrupts them.)

Mrs. Tilden—"Isn't that young flutist absolutely the most attractive creature you ever saw? Now, do tell me about the gown you were speaking of, Mrs. Thompson. You know, I was ill last winter and didn't go to the reception."

Mrs. Thompson—"Well, it was gorgeous, my dear. Simply too wonderful for words. It was the most delicate shade of bluish lavender—a perfectly indescribable color. Marquise over messaline, draped in the most wonderful way, and caught up with little bunches of chiffon, with a violet fastened in the center of each. What a catastrophe that you missed it!"

Mrs. Tilden—"I almost cried when I heard about it. I was the most disappointed person you ever saw. And usually Mrs. Tolman's affairs are so dowdy. By the way, there's Mrs. Parks down there. Speaking of dowdy people made me think of her. She has less idea of dressing than an other woman I ever knew. Actually she went to Mrs. Tuttle's garden party last Thursday in a perfectly plain linen frock. Not even a suit, my dear—just a little linen dress, with some sprays of embroidery on the front panel. Can you imagine any one doing such an unheard of thing? I'm sure Mrs. Tuttle felt it very keenly."

Mrs. Snowdon—"Poor Mrs. Tuttle! By the way, I suppose you're both going to the Trenton's Friday evening?"

The Other Two—"Yes, indeed!"

Mrs. Tilden—"I wouldn't miss it for worlds. What are you going to wear?"

Mrs. Snowdon—"Oh, I'm having Mrs. Dening freshen up my white voile with some new laces—just cheap little lace, only $3.50 a yard, but I've worn the gown three times already and I didn't feel like putting much money into fixing it up."

Mrs. Thompson—"I'm having a little gray chiffon made, and I really think it's going to be a very dainty little frock. Simple, of course, and inexpensive. I've made up my mind that I simply won't spend more than $50 on it. But then I adore simplicity. I simply will not fuss over my clothes."

Mrs. Tilden—"Nor I."

Mrs. Snowdon—"I feel just the way you do. That's why I adore living in Forest View. I simply couldn't live in a place where people judged you by the clothes you wear. In Forest View, you know, you really don't have to give your clothes a single thought."
